

COPING WITH CANCER

Kids Support Circle

Providing a safe place where children of parents or grandparents with cancer can learn effective coping skills and communication tools to reduce anxiety.

Mission Hope is pleased to offer an activity group especially for the children of cancer patients to make friends and learn new skills for living with cancer in the family. Group facilitator Tonya Palacios Willett, LMFT, discusses how to cope with fear and teaches strategies for encouraging communication about difficult subjects. This small group setting offers a safe place where children can use art, games, and journals to express their feelings and grow together.
