

Community Coming Together

Easter season signifies growth, rebirth and a blooming of both nature and the human spirit. A sudden bright spot appeared during this difficult time with unprecedented unknowns when Skyline Florals of Nipomo provided an unexpected delivery of hundreds of beautiful and fragrant floral bouquets to the lobby of Mission Hope Cancer Center. In so many ways, seemingly against all odds, communities everywhere are pulling together to provide reminders for each other, patients and healthcare workers included, that they are surrounded by an abundance of care and support.

As the premier community cancer treatment provider on the Central Coast, Mission Hope Cancer Center continues its operations in serving patients with integrative and compassionate cancer care with a deep commitment to the health and safety of our patients and our provider teams. Patients and caregivers affected by cancer are encouraged to explore the array of services offered by Mission Hope Cancer Center by visiting missionhopecancercenter.com or calling 1-805-219-HOPE (4673).
